FACTS AND FANCIES

BY FRANK FAIRBORN
(Jas. A. Livingston)

Grimsby 4.

Dunnville 2.

How about it "Bill"?

And Horn doesn't get his certificate till the 18th!

Not much using giving a man his certificate to play on Sunday?How about it "Bill"? The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley!In case that some of you people do not know what I am talking about, I might explain that my old college chum, "Bill" Fry, of Dunnville, failed to beat up Grimsby's hockey team by obstructing George Horne getting an O.H.A. certificate because he hadn't resided in Grimsby six months before Christopher Columbus discovered America.George got his certificate all right—not because we could prove that he had resided in Grimsby for six months before Christopher landed, but because nobody in Dunnville could prove that he hadn't.The oldest inhabitant in Dunnville could remember when the O.T.A. came into force, but not a man Jack could be found in town, who could remember when Christopher Columbus landed."Bill" Fry himself spent three days looking in the Encyclopaedia Britannica for the word "Columbus", under the letter "K", and by the time that Davey Hastings told him that he should have looked under the letter
"C", it was too late and the certificate had been granted.And what was the big idea of granting Horne's certificate to come into effect on Sunday, January 18th?
Why, that's quite plain—by that time, Grimsby would be beaten by Port Colborne, Niagara Falls, Welland and Dunnville in the initial games, and after that, it wouldn't make any difference!But there again the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley, for long before Horne gets his certificate the Peach Kings—one round the circuit, trimming everything they come to—Port Colborne alone being able to hold them in a hard fought tie.Never mind "Bill" there's lots of other games besides hockey—there's marbles, fan tin, ping pong and dodging the O.T.A. officers—so there is a chance yet for a little fun in your sweet young life.

Back to the Companies—

One grape grower said to me: "I don't know what I will do yet—but, by Gosh, we would be loath to let the two companies go down!"Another grower said to me: "I have a notion to pull out of the Grape Growers', but I hate to be left at the mercy of the dealers.""Well" I replied, "there is only one way to protect yourself against the dealers, and that is to stick to your company."The only difference between the company and the dealers is that the company will use your grapes to stabilize the market and the dealers will use your grapes to smash the market.If the dealers will produce one solitary instance where they made an honest united effort to maintain the market in a bad time, I will shut my mouth forever.The dealers have been born, bred and suckled on one idea and that idea is "cut prices", and the leopard cannot change its spots.The man who has no money invested can indulge in a "cut price" campaign without any pang of conscience, but the man, who has his money invested in his crop, takes a very different view of the matter.

It would be wisdom on the part of the growers to maintain both companies—the N.P.G. and the Grape Growers—but, the N.P.G. hold back should be cut to maximum of fifteen per cent., or else the company
should be turned into a straight buying company.

Now that the Grape Company is out of debt it should go through flying, if properly backed by the growers.

But let me tell the growers something over again:
"The best selling company in the world cannot make a success of selling 'bad fruit'. The real trouble is not in the selling end—it is in the production end! Don't forget that."

NOTES AND COMMENTS ON CURRENT EVENTS

BY PETER PETERKIN

Continuing the subject of unemployment insurance as outlined by Prof. Commons: "If the principle be adopted that the industry should take care of both capital overhead and labor overhead, and that it should be done in the same way that boards of directors now take care of their capital overhead, we shall arrive at the following proposition:

"1. Establishments with a small number of employees should be treated differently from those having a large number of employees, and it is suggested that these should be organized in the form of mutual insurance companies.

"2. Establishments with a large number of employees should each carry, as far as possible, its own risk by setting aside its own reserve, and should not organize in any mutual insurance along with other establishments.

"3. Ordinarily the employees should not be required to contribute to the fund out of their wages, the provision for reserves being handled by the individual establishments for mutual insurance, by the associated small establishments; but, if the employees do contribute, then their contributions should be merged into a common fund on the insurance principle.

"Three conclusions may therefore be drawn as to the classes of contributors to unemployment insurance:
1. Either a mutual insurance or a state insurance fund, where all employers contribute to a common fund, is fitted to the circumstances and is desired by small establishments and by those unable to command the credit, or business ability, or market opportunity, necessary to reduce the peaks of over-employment and fill the troughs of unemployment.

"2. The employees desire, and are even compelled, in the case of a union, to have a common fund
on either the mutual insurance or the state insurance plan, in order to relieve the actual distress of unemployment, whenever it may occur. There seems to be no way of reaching the controls of industry by bankers, financiers, and absentee boards of directors except by the way of the pocket book, and the modern pocket book is the credit system.

"It is the duty to pay for unemployment in the form of deferred wages, is made directly a part of industry, then we may expect the pocket-book of the absentee to convey to its owner the importance of so regulating the expansion and contraction of banks as to provide a greater stabilization of industry."

An illustration of where unemployment insurance has been solved was provided by Bryce M. Stewart, formerly superintendent of the Employment Service of Canada, and now of Chicago. It is the case of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. Under this plan each employee contributes one and a half per cent. of his wages, and the employer an equal amount.
About 80 of the largest firms have individual house funds, but the contributions of the smaller firms are pooled.

Employers who give regular employment are encouraged by a provision that when a house fund has accumulated an amount sufficient for the payment of the maximum benefit for two years, the contributions of the house and of the employees shall cease until the fund has been depleted to an amount sufficient for one year's benefit. The joint contributions for the whole industry in the year ending April 30, 1924, were slightly over one million dollars.

This plan appears to the writer to be both practical, economical, and just to both employers and employees, and it would seem to be applicable—with slight changes to fit different conditions—equally to Canada as to the United States, and can be applied not only to the clothing trade but to most other industries as well.

What has become of the commission supposed to have been appointed by Hon. James Murdock, Federal Minister of Labor, to enquire as to whether or not fruit producers and consumers in the four Western provinces of Canada are the victims of a gigantic fruit-buying and selling combine?

This alleged combine is said to operate under various names and to be practically in control of the fruit marketing agencies in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. The announcement of the coming appointment was made long ago, but since then apparently a dead silence has prevailed. It would seem at least that this matter ought to be the agenda for debate and consideration at the coming fruit conference in Hamilton, on January 27, 28 and 29.

In Canada the average consumption of grape fruit per head is 34 lbs. per annum; of lemons, 34 lbs., and of oranges a little over 15 lbs. In the United States the amount is placed at 54 lbs. for grape fruit, 34 lbs. for lemons and 22 lbs. for oranges.

Bilkas had no love for his wife's pet dog, but when he mysteriously disappeared one day, he uttered a reward of $25 for its return. "Now, make a firm," I told him, "you hated that dog like poison." "Yes," said Bilkas, "I couldn't bear it." "But why on earth did you offer such a big reward for its return?" "I like to please a wife," said Bilkas. "Well that may be, but $25 is more to bring the dog back." "I think not," answered Bilkas, calmly, "unless someone saw me bury it in the garden."

Letters To The Editor

POSITION OF "QUIT COMPANIES"

To the Editor of The Independent:
Dear Sir:—An effort is now being made to bolster up the faltering of the N.P.G. As a writer of the Spectator of Jan. 10th says:
"Recentment of constructive criticism has been one of the weak points in the armour of the officials entrusted with the task of directing the affairs of the fruit-growers and gardeners in their various enterprises. At all times
there has been shown an indifference of the members, who dare to show his head above the mob, and expresses himself freely. He was regarded as a "smoother", although he may have been in many ways that he was more keenly concerned with the welfare of the industry than some of the officials who were so quick to resent
the criticism." etc.

The time has come when it is opportunity to consider whether the N.P.G. should be encouraged to continue on its present lines, or allowed to commit "hari-kari" without, if possible, dragging the unfortunate fruit farmer along with it; or whether some other constructive scheme cannot be devised (if it is not too late)
which will allay the general dissatisfaction which has grown without any diminution since the N.P.G. was brought into existence.

More than once you have published the statement that you have withdrawn out a scheme which will lead the fruit grower to the promised land. Is it too much to ask that you would now make public this scheme? It is essential that anybody who has constructive ideas should come out decisively with them and be given a fair and impartial hearing.

Yours truly,
R. NORRIS WOLFENDEN.
Grimsby, Jan. 10th, 1923.

WOULD TAX WHOLESALERS

To the Editor of The Independent:
Dear Sir:—You draw a very gloomy picture in your editorial last week of our prospects during the forthcoming season, and while no help is probable from the Dominion Government, I can see no reason why the Ontario Government should not help us by making the wholesalers pay a heavy license fee for the privilege of selling American fruit and vegetable in competition with domestic—if fa-
city consumers want American fruit
they should pay a heavy price for it.

As regards the N.P.G., I think that as my fellow shipping men do, that it would be far better to have a government shipping system
and "every man" who has a membership, and aim as you say, at quality pack, rather than deal with the members who have deserted us. To come back into the fold, if they have deserted once, they will desert again.
I must apologize for taking up so much of your valuable space, I have only been growing fruit for fifteen years, so do not pretend to speak with authority; at the same time, if the N.
P. G. "goes broke", I personally can see no hope for the fruit growing industry in the future. I remain,
Faithfully yours,

W. GOLDRING.

A LITTLE TALK ON THRIFT

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

Workmen digging an excavation for a building in a southern city recently unearthed a small, hard-rubber match case containing four 33¢ green-backs.
The match container is believed to have been lost by a soldier during the Civil war.

The incident serves to illustrate a very forceful lesson in thrift. The notes bear 6 per cent interest, payable semi-annually and are dated December 15 1864. Through the process of compound interest, they had a value of $6,942.20 on December 15th, 1924.
In other words, the original $200 in increased in value more than 34 times during the 60 years that elapsed.

We often hear of tremendous profits in some kind of enterprise and often we read of fabulous wealth acquired as if by magic by someone.
As a matter of fact, such actual occurrences are rare and only take place in connection with some unusual or freakish circumstances.

But when we think of money lying hidden in the ground and increasing in value more than 34 fold within the not uncommon span of a human life, we find that even in finance truth is stranger than fiction.

It is to be borne in mind, of course, that there is nothing commendable in simply hoarding money. The fact that money prudently invested piles up with great rapidity, through compound interest, should serve as a reminder of the efficacy of thrift and patient saving to those who are under the delusion that wealth can be acquired only by some marvellous stroke of good fortune or by some kind of unethical manipulation.

There is but one royal road to wealth, and that is thrift.

Go to church and learn about the hereafter, or go nothing and nothing.

Often when the wolf comes around to the door he finds the family under the table in a comfortable.

Anticipating tomorrow and regretting yesterday are poor ways of spending our time today.

Have you ever stopped to think that it is easier for to offend than it is to make amends?

Misery may have company, it is not half as much as it is said to be.

Best cure for longing for the old home town, is to go there and try it again.

GRIMSBY DEHYDRATED FRUIT CAN NOW BE PURCHASED IN GRIMSBY STORES

Several weeks ago The Independent published some articles on the dehydration of fruits, a plant for which purpose had been erected at Grimsby by the Dominion government. The pack for this year is now on the market and two of the leading stores of Grimsby have the fruits on their shelves. And any household that use apples or pears, will be most agreeably surprised at the natural flavor that has been retained in this product.

The fruit is put up in most attractive 1-lb. cartons in a perfectly sanitary and cleanly manner and in each carton is the fruit from one gallon of natural fruit.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating; and from the appearance of the packages and the contents it is probable that the fruit will be soon proven—and proven good—by those who see the cartons.

On the face of the package is the legend "fancy quality dehydrated apples, packed by the Dehydration Committee of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa," and on the side is printed: "These apples were packed when ripe and sound, they were dehydrated when in their prime condition under the most modern sanitary and scientific arrangements, whereby the delicious flavor of the fresh fruit is retained."

"Fruits processed by this method retain all the nutritious sugars and mineral salts of the fresh fruits; they supply that fruit element which everyone requires."

"Dehydrated fruits are economical, risk of spoilage to which fresh fruit is always liable, is eliminated. Nothing is taken from the fresh fruit but water which may be returned when needed."

"The contents of this package is the product of one gal. of fresh apples."

"To bring back to natural condition, soften in water six to ten hours when the fruit may be used for any purpose and in any way that fresh fruit is used."

Inside the package is a printed circular containing several recipes for the use of the fruits, the contents of this circular appearing in another column.

While a shooting party were out for a day's sport in the Highlands a raw young sportsman was observed by a keeper to be taking aim at a pheasant running along the ground.

"What do you take me for, you idiot?" came the reply. "Can't you see I'm waiting till it stops?"

DAINTY DISHES THAT GRIMSBY HOUSEWIVES CAN MAKE WITH GRIMSBY DEHYDRATED FRUIT

For General Use
Wash and soak in water ten to twelve hours, add pinch of salt. Use in any way you would use fresh sliced apples.

Apple Sauce Cake
1 cup dehydrated apples, 1 1/2 cups cold water, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 2 teaspoons cocoa, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Soak apples over night in the water, then cook until soft in same liquid. Sweeten as for table use and press through a sieve, there should be three-fourths cups apple sauce. Add soda to apple sauce and stir until it foams. Sift together flour and spices and baking powder, then add raisins and nuts and stir until they are well favored. Cream the butter and sugar, add the egg, well beaten and beat thoroughly, add apple sauce and sifted ingredients, mix and add vanilla. Bake in a loaf tin lined with heavy greased paper in moderate oven about 45 minutes.

Apple Pie
Wash and soak over night in water to cover. Cook until soft in same liquid, press through sieve, add pinch salt. Line a pie tin with pie paste and fill in apples, add 1 cup sugar, mix of one half lemon, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and two tablespoons butter in pieces. Put on top crust and bake in hot oven.

Apple Sauce
Wash and soak apples over night in water to cover. Add a pinch of salt and cook in the same water until tender. Then put through a sieve, add sugar, using 1/2 cups for every 1 cup of pulp and the juice of 1/2 lemon, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. This may be put in sterilized jars and sterilized for twelve minutes, sealed and kept for some time.

Apple Pie
Wash and soak overnight. Line tin with pie paste, fill in with sliced apples, add fresh apples; place on top paste and bake.

Baked Apple Slices
Wash and soak 12 to 13 hours. Take a covered dish and place a layer apple slices on bottom, sprinkle some sugar, then another layer of apple slices and more sugar. Cover dish with place in oven to bake until tender. Do not add any water to apples in baking dish.

A HOME DINNER IN CHINA

Soup at a home dinner in China is not treated as it is with us, as a separate course. Instead of beginning the meal, it is the beverage throughout the entire meal, kept at the side in a black or white lacquer bowl, and eaten with a bowl-like spoon of china. A soup, it is made of lean meat, vegetables and seasoning. Since water is little used and tea never during the meal, this soup is the only beverage, unless, wine is served.

So the meal really begins with sea food, as seaweed fried in peanut oil, with perhaps a sauce, the dish being similar to our anchovy appetizer. After that is a fresh fish course; the fish may be fried or steamed. If the latter, the sauce or seasoning are put on the fish while it is cooking. An egg dish may take the place of the fish for this part of the meal.

With the fish a huge bowl of rice makes its appearance and stays until the dessert. Portion after portion in small bowls is consumed during the meal, for it represents our potato, bread, macaroni, noodles and rice is one.

The roast is chicken or duck served with a sauce. This may be omitted for an every day meal and only the fresh meat dish served. Fresh meat is pork; beef is not used, as a rule.

This fresh meat dish is more the type we know in chop suey restaurants. The pork is seared quickly and cooked with vegetables—mustard greens, tomatoes or green peppers. A large dish of vegetables will be on the table, too, in order to complete the meal—all kinds, including lettuce, chestnuts, bamboo shoots, bean sprouts and the like. The secret of their cooking is a short time, so that they will keep their freshness and crispness. Peanut oil is often used for the cooking.

Sweets are of less importance in the Chinese meal than in ours; the main part is so satisfying that pies, puddings and the usual cakes would be too much. So preserved fruit or ginger finishes the meal, or hard cakes.

tion by a more healthy attitude of mind.
12. Do not create an unpleasant scene at the table.
13. Do not arouse jealousy by not giving to one child what another child has been given. If old enough, the child should know why the food is refused him.

14. Do you manifest authority by forcing a child to eat because you think he should. This leads to anger and obstinacy with inability to digest food. Reason with the child if possible.
15. Do you provide a substitute when a child refuses to eat what is offered him? This is a very poor policy with which to begin the training of a child.

MARKETING IN MEXICO

When in Mexico do as the Mexicans do is a wise rule to follow in regard to rising early in the morning. For if you do not you will miss the most delightful and interesting part of the day. Every one is up at daybreak, and one of the first duties of the housewife is to see about the day's marketing. Unlike many women of our country, says E. A. in New York paper, she rarely if ever goes to market herself, she prefers to give her orders to her servant.

There is always the market proper, which is under cover, with stalls arranged not unlike those in our markets. This, however, forms but a small part of the whole. All the streets leading to the market have their displays, and the human tide of color moving in and out has an irresistible charm.

The first thing that attracts one's attention upon entering is the flowers, with their riot of color. Violets, the double sweet-scented kind, roses, with long stems and thick, glossy leaves, indescribable in the delicacy of color; exquisite carnations, with dew still on them—all the flowers you can carry and a flashing smile from the vendor for a few cents.

The Vegetables
Many of the vegetables sold were new to us, especially those of the root variety. The Mexican woman buys her food in small quantities, just sufficient for one day's use. I have often seen a woman carrying in her hand one onion, a few carrots and a slice of squash—probably her soup vegetables for one day. Potatoes and tomatoes, although natives of these southern countries, are small and inferior, showing little cultivation. We were surprised to see many of our own native fruits displayed; peaches, pears, grapes and apples were plentiful, but did not compare in flavor with those grown in the north. Mangoes, pineapples and aguacates were at their best and were thoroughly enjoyed.

Cooking on Charcoal
Here and there about the market Indian women sat cooking over charcoal braziers. Rice, frijoles and chile con carne were dished up in brown glazed bowls, and eaten with strips of tortillas, folded so they could serve as spoons. Tortillas are flat, thin cakes made of cornmeal and water and fried. Other women sat behind palm mats upon which were arranged piles of nuts of six or seven each, which they sold for one cent a pile. These, with a few seeds and several bunches of herbs, formed their stock in trade, the whole not amounting to more than 20 cents.

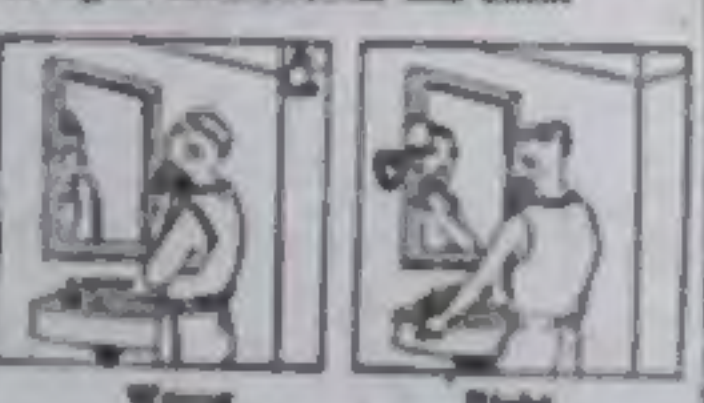

Beautiful woven baskets, reed and raffia work of all kinds, for which the Indians of North and South America are famous, delighted the tourist. The dyes give brilliant colors of purple, yellow, red and green, which harmonize perfectly with the colors of the fruit and vegetables on all sides.

"Isn't that a pretty big bill, doctor?"
"Well, living costs more than it used to, you know," returned the man of medicine.

The English-speaking peoples will find the market a most interesting place to visit. Blood is thicker than water, but try to overcome the emotionalism.

LESSON NO. 8 LIGHTING THE BATH ROOM

Have you ever watched your father shave? Does he try to keep shadows away by turning his face this way and that? Or can he shave comfortably and easily with a smile on his face like the man in the second picture? Shaving is really the best test of lighting in a bathroom. A man shaves each side of his face and under his chin, and if he is to see well, he needs a light on each side down low enough to light underneath the chin.

It is necessary to take the bath out of the light to connect her electric iron? If she does, she probably does not curl her hair in the evening, because many bathrooms are lighted by only one fixture. A bathroom has two fixtures, and after using one for a curling iron, then she must twist and turn her head because she cannot see well when only one is used for lighting.

That curling iron of sister's is just one of the handy little electric appliances which should be provided with an outlet of their own—a convenience outlet 36 inches or more above the floor, so that good lighting is always ready when it is most needed.

Lighting the mirror in the bathroom is exactly the same problem as lighting the mirror in the bedroom, and two bracket fixtures are needed for good lighting—one at either side of the mirror at eye level or a little above. The fixtures should point upward and should have long dense milk-white shades open at the top to conceal the 60-watt bulbs inside.

If the bathroom is large, you may have a fixture in the center of the ceiling just like the fixture used in the kitchen. If this is properly put in and equipped with a bulb of 75-watts or more, it will furnish good general lighting all over the room on occasions when the mirror is not being used.

When sister goes to curl her hair in front of the mirror, does she

LIGHTING THE SUN ROOM

In the sun room we usually want a ceiling fixture to give us general lighting and to flood the whole room with warm, soft light and an atmosphere of cheerfulness; we also need lighting from portable lamps for reading or sewing, or as decorative spots of light around the room. Do you remember the lesson which told how to light the living room? It was much the same as this, for the sun room or sun porch is really another living room in most homes.

In the sun room, however, the furniture and decorations usually require lighting fixtures which will look well with wicker and crocheted and which will make the sun room feel like a sun room even after dark.

FAVORITE HYMNS AND THEIR WRITERS

By Mrs. Arthur Wallace

"O LITTLE TOWN OF BETHLEHEM"

Phillips Brooks, the writer of "O Little Town of Bethlehem," was a preacher rather than a poet, but all his life he was very much interested in music. When he was a boy his parents had him and his brothers commit great hymns to memory and recite them on Sunday evenings. Phillips had a remarkable good memory. When he went to college he could recite over two hundred hymns. He became a minister of the Episcopal Church of the United States and preached from the pulpit of the Church of the Holy Trinity in Philadelphia. He was a boy his parents had him and his brothers commit great hymns to memory and recite them on Sunday evenings.

In the summer of 1903, while he was rector of the Holy Trinity Church, Philadelphia, he started on a year of travel, planning to visit Palestine, and to spend Christmas at Bethlehem. On Sunday, December 24th, he rode on horseback from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, and before dark that evening he went out into the fields where the shepherds were when they saw the glory of the Lord.

He wrote a letter to the boys and girls of his Sunday School in Philadelphia telling them of his wonderful experiences. This is part of the letter: "I do not mind telling you (though of course I should not like to have you speak of it to the older people of the church) that I am much afraid the younger part of my congregation has more than its share of my thoughts and interest. I remember specially on Christmas Eve, when I was standing in the old church at Bethlehem, close to the spot where Jesus was born, when the whole church was ringing hour after hour with the splendid hymns of praise to God, how again and again it seemed as if I could hear voices that I knew well, telling each other of the 'Wonderful Night, of the Saviour's birth, as I had heard them a year before.'"

No doubt this was when Phillips Brooks got his inspiration to write his famous hymn, "O Little Town of Bethlehem." He wrote it for a Christmas Sunday School service in 1906. He wrote Mr. Lewis H. Redner, the organist of the Church and the teacher in the Sunday School, to put it to music. Mr. Redner was, of course, very anxious to have a musical setting to the hymn, but nothing seemed to come. The day of the Christmas service drew near, but still there was no music to go with the words of the hymn. The night before the Christmas service was to take place, Mr. Redner woke from deep sleep with sweet music ringing in his ears. He hastily took some sheets of paper and jotted down the tune. The next morning, before he went to church he completed it and handed it to Mr. Brooks.

Neither Phillips Brooks nor Mr. Redner seemed to realize what a great thing they had done, and it was a good many years before the hymn became generally known.

A husband has no chance. If he decides to hold out, he is held up.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

How many mothers make a careful study of the habits of their children in order to eliminate the bad ones and encourage the good? Here are a few questions and suggestions furnished by the home economics department at South Dakota State College that will aid you in studying the habits of the little ones.

1. Does your child fret about what he eats? Perhaps you are making him take the part of an actor in a play and every child enjoys attention.
2. Do you often talk about his eating habits before other people? A child begins to feel important and desires attention.

3. Do you teach him to feed himself as much as he is old enough? Let him eat a little food; do not punish him for not eating.
4. Are other members of the family setting an example in good habits for the child? A child tries to imitate older people.

5. Do you select simple, nourishing, easily digested foods and cook them correctly?
6. Has your child had a taste of foods of which only adults should eat? Examples of these are tea, coffee, sweets and pickles.

7. Do you make foods attractive to the child? A child likes color.
8. Do you serve too large quantities?
9. Is your child eating at regular times? Eating between meals overworks the stomach.

10. Does the child sleep poorly?
11. Is he irritable? Does he fear? Then the nervous system is not healthy.
12. Do you realize that a child who is angry or worried cannot digest food properly? Do not force a child to eat, but try to overcome the emotionalism.

THEY BASK IN MID-WINTER SUNSHINE

Why pick on me? said the little fellow, "there are many other things which can interest you and hold your attention." And so there are, but after all the native life of the "Isles of the Breeze" is worth a little study, is it not? Take this little Jamaican for instance. If you took away his shirt and his breeches he would not be a British subject, other than a full tummy, yet he is a British subject, and as such has an opportunity of becoming a citizen of this world's substance to give him comfort at least in his late years. He will grow up in a ramshackle old hut on the edge of the town, and learn to be jealous of his rights as a citizen; and when he comes to the age of understanding he will be more English than the English. As a matter of fact he will, in all probability, speak at least two "English" languages. In one of these he might tell you to buy the fruits or leg back souvenirs or very of moon, translucent, smooth, light green after a day in the sun, and a very good specimen of the "Isles of the Breeze" food. As you see from the direct "no" over the line road that forms a network over the island, and in the other he will converse with his kind. This language sounds as foreign as any you will meet with in your tour of the West Indies, but if you listen intently enough you will catch an "I" and an "an" or a "Yes," then gradually your ear will be able to distinguish all the words of the dialect.

They are interesting, these people. Watch them as they swarm around your cruise vessel docked in Kingston harbor, in their tub-like canoes, and dive deep into the water for your coppers. They are a different people in every sense of the word. Participants in the cruises to the West Indies by the Canadian Pacific S.S. Montreal in January and February, you will be afforded every opportunity to study the natives, peoples with whom they come in contact and will return with a least a few impressions and a better understanding of them. No matter how different they may be, they are never foreign. This is especially true of the British protectorates. If one would really get to the heart of these people, dare not patronize them. If he does this he only finds the type that he expects to find.

Prince of Wales' "Little Grey Home in the West"

WHERE THE ROYAL RANCHER LIVES

THE PRINCE AND HIS "GALLOP NAT"

THE PRINCE'S THOROUGH-BRED SHEEP

After having enjoyed about as much privacy as the proverbial goldfish during the international polo games near New York, the Prince of Wales retired to the quiet and seclusion of his Canadian "Little Grey Home in the West," 25 miles from High River, Alberta, a station on the Canadian Pacific, to rest for a few days, to recreate and work far from curious crowds, reporters, still photographers and "movie" men. It is very pleasant, no doubt, to be the most popular young man in the world, but when one comes a year the rolling hills and rich prairie land of his "E. P. Ranch" call the Prince of Wales, Baron Renfrew or "Davy Windsor," as they refer to H.R.H. in Alberta, back to the land.

The prince is a real farmer and rancher, and is honestly endeavoring to improve the breed of horses, sheep and cattle in Western Canada. His pure-bred, imported animals and their offspring have won many prizes in competition at live stock shows in Western Canada, not because they were from the royal ranch, but because they were the very best exhibited. Since he bought his 4,100 acre ranch in Alberta in 1919, the prince has been sending to it the best stock he could secure in Great Britain, and every year he sells at auction the surplus animals for the benefit of live stock breeders in the western provinces. The Earl of Minto, who has a big ranch near-by, does the same thing. Also, King George loans the prince some of his best animals for the stud.

"He's a neighborly kid," said one of the members of the Alberta Horsebreeders' Association. "When he comes out here we don't chase him as a y do in other places. We just let him ride, and no thing you know he has all of us neighbors in as his guests, and meets us just as a neighbor. He wants to meet all the ranchers who are his neighbors, and there isn't a thing about ranching he doesn't want to know. His ranch is no fake. He is running it for the benefit of Canada first, and second for the purpose of making the "E. P. Ranch" a business venture, just as any level-headed man would do. When he is on the ranch he wears a 'ten gallon hat,' the name as all of the cowboys, and he does his work day like any other ranch hand. 'Regular feller,' that's what we call him, 'regular feller.'"

Maori Retains Native Customs

Below—A carved Maori house.

Below—Maori canoe, Victoria, British Columbia.

The earliest days of settlement the fame of New Zealand's wonderful scenic attractions has spread abroad and they are now regarded as without equal by their kind in the world. Within the compass of the two main islands are found virgin forests full of rare and valuable native plants and flowers; wonderful thermal regions cover a wide area in the centre of the North Island where volcanoes, geysers, boiling springs and countless other manifestations of nature's power are of an unimaginable grandeur and magnificence, and the country provides excellent sport for the fisherman or big game hunter, with its trout and salmon filled rivers, and the fine deer herds of the interior.

At Return, on the Northern Island, may be studied many interesting phases of Maori life, for here the Maori still retains most of the old customs and traditions of his storied past, and all through the country one comes upon him paddling his canoe up or down the wonderful rivers, much as his fathers did before the advent of the white man. Little native villages of carved houses dot the river banks and roads. Auckland is the chief port of the Northern Island and is the calling place of the Canadian Australasian line of steamships.

The South Island is rich in scenic attractions, and its marvellous floods are unsurpassed by those of any country in the world. The great range of Southern Alps running from north to south through this island, is capped by many superb peaks, and huge glaciers, rushing snow-fed rivers provide a never ending source of enjoyment and pleasure.

The city of Dunedin, with its busy shipping port possesses many attractions for the visitor and is next year to be the scene of the New Zealand Exhibition. This Exhibition will embrace all industries and resources of the Antipodes, with international features and will attract visitors from practically every corner of the world.

A Speedy Trio of Peach Kings

Reid's Boys Were Never in Trouble and Always Had Command of the Situation—Ice Was Keen and Hard, Which Just Served the Local Speedsters—Game Was Hard Fought But Very Clean—Fans Had Plenty of Thrills.

Oh, Snuggly, puckman! did you hear what happened over in Mauderville on Friday evening last? Well, "Pop" Reid and his snappy aggregation of Peach Kings broke the hearts of Dunnville fans by winning home with the little old hockey match by a score of 4-2, in a battle that was clean, fast and thrilling from the first ding of the bell until the last tinkle.

Grimsbey went on the ice with seven men to do or die in an effort to keep intact their string of unbroken wins, and to show the Dunnville fans that as a hockey team, they stood head and shoulders above anything else in the group from every angle. It was a beautiful battle for the spectators, and Dunnville were travelling at top form and gave the Kings a merry tilt for the first place honors, although there was not a moment of the game from beginning to end that the Reid outfit did not have perfect command. They were positively the best polished outfit of the two, even they did have only one relief man to the Maudcats two. Their play was more finished and by far the fastest.

The combination work and back-checking of the forward line was a treat to look at and every one of the four front line battlers showed superiority over their opponents. Reid himself never played a steadier, faster, brainier or more effective game than he did Friday night. His speed and stick-handling at times made the home-standers stand spellbound, gasping for breath. To his trusty stick can be credited two of Grimsby's goals.

Artie Clarke, on the left boards, turned in a beautiful game. This boy is not a flashy, spectacular player, but he is a mighty effective one. His rushes are nicely timed and always carry through while his legitimate body checking and back-checking is always one hundred per cent effective. He received a bad slam in the middle of the third period that landed him up against the boards and he came back gamely and finished on the bit.

Old Nick Burnside, since the pride and joy of all Dunnville, was one of the big causes of the home people going home talking to themselves. Nick played one of the greatest games of his career and made all Dunnville wish that the double-shooting lad was back in a home town uniform.

Launce Hayhoe was the one big part of the night. Everytime Mauder Dixon threw him over the boards the whole Dunnville team thought that "Dix" had just released another hornet nest. The kid had his sweep-check and poke-check working to perfection, and he was shooting like a fool. It looks like the kid has found himself at last for his game on Friday night was certainly a revelation to the followers of the Kings.

Back on the defence Jerry Carson and Old Pop McVicar played a strong heady game and broke up dozens of rushes with the greatest of ease. They were using their bodies to great advantage and time after time stopped the Dunnville forwards in a manner that left no doubt as to their defensive ability. On the offensive they were great. Jerry staged rush after rush that had the crowd in a frenzy and it was only hard luck that robbed the kid of at least a couple of counters. McVicar was going great guns again and his rush in the second period when he scored was one of the thrillers of a thrilling game.

From the time Bud Fisher stepped on the ice until the game was over, he was singing that pathetic little ballad, "You Can't Get Past Mr. Puck Blues", and was certainly the right piece of music for the two goals that Dunnville scored were not earned ones, but accidental counts have won many a game, so they get the credit for them. Budd, had his old eagle eye working and some of his stops were little less than marvellous.

Reid scored the only goal of the first period when on a beautiful shot he planted the puck past Hayes. It was a nice piece of work and was so fast that many people did not know the goal was in until the red light flashed. This period ended 1-0.

In the second "space" nine minutes of play had passed into the beyond when Reid again tallied on a nice rush and was followed shortly after by McVicar on an end-to-end rush. Just before the period closed, Robbins caught a rebound shot off Fisher's pads and in the scramble that took place in front of the nets the puck dribbled up to the line and laid there. Referee Matthews called it a goal by a half inch margin. Score, Grimsby 2, Dunnville 1.

Five minutes after play started in the last frame Robbins missed a hot one off the wing which Jerry Carson shot out his hand to get. The puck struck the top of his glove and dropped into the corner of the net past Fisher. Then Old Nick Burnside came to life and grabbing a loose puck near the Grimsby goal sailed the full length of the rink to beat Hayes by a mile on a wicked shot. This ended the scoring for the night and the Kings walked out with the game.

The Dunnville team is far from being a team that can be fooled with, and when they play in Grimsby, on the 23rd, are bound to give the locals a real run for their money. This game should be a dazzer from start to finish.

The work of Referee Matthews in Dunnville was absolutely perfect. He had control at all times and both teams played real hockey. The few penalties that were handed out were for minor offences and the boys realized that Mr. Ref. was the boss.

Welland Plays the Kings in the local ice palace on Friday night of this week and will give a good account of themselves. They are now in good condition and are just about ready to cause a few surprises in this group. The locals cannot afford to take any chances with them.

On Monday night near the Peach Kings journey to the Falls and pair off with Red Rowden's crew. This game will be a slasher as Red and his outfit are going great guns. "Shorty" Horne will be on the front line so that locals should go in with considerably stronger than they have at any time this season.

At the Eagles Lodge, Niagara Falls, N.Y., on Friday night, Bert Hillier, of Dunnville, made it his fifth career win when he knocked out pe Shirley, of Welland, in the second round of the main bout. This was the thirteenth round and a half seen at the Main street Auditorium for some time.

Shirley won the first round by a small margin, running out of his corner, he caught Hillier with a hard right over the eye. Hillier clinched to recover from its effect and wrestled to Shirley's corner. They clinched again, the referee prying them apart. Hillier then landed Shirley with a right to the jaw, they exchanged blows at close quarters, Shirley got a heavy right and Hillier dropped to one knee but was up before the referee could count. Shirley missed a right and Hillier rushed him across the ring, they were fighting furiously at the bell.

Round two—Shirley rushed out of his corner again, but Hillier was not caught napping this time; he met him with a straight left and brought the fight to the body. Shirley immediately fell into a clinch. They exchanged blows at close quarters, Hillier tying up the referee's hands. Whenever possible the referee stepped between them. Shirley missed a right swing, Hillier put in two hard lefts to the body followed by a right cross which took Shirley flush on the jaw, and ended the bout.

These three lads accounted for Grimsby's four goals in Dunnville—Reid, notching two and McVicar and Burnside one each. All of them unassisted. They are also the three leading goal getters on the team up-to-date—Burnside having six goals and one assist; Reid five goals and no assists; McVicar two goals and two assists.

The instructions of the O.H.A. issued last week to their referees ordering them to tone down the heavy body-checking which has recently come into the game is having a very definite effect on the speed of the game. In effect the governing body told its referees to eliminate all heavy and unnecessary body checking on the forward lines, and to stop the defence players from crowding into attacking forwards. There is no new rule. The old rule against charging is simply being strictly enforced, and the O.H.A. is backing its officials up for the last couple of years the cry to the defence men has been "Step into them," and the result is that the majority of the bodying in defences has been charging pure and simple. Defence players, usually big men, have been skating into attacking forwards and knocking them flat or opening out and underbidding "you as ugly." Players who have passed the puck on reaching the defence have been slammed hard to keep them out of the play, or jabbed and harried all over the defence any time they come in to pick up a pass or a rebound. The day for that stuff is over, according to the O.H.A. Defence players are still permitted to use their bodies to block attacking forwards into a play, or simply because he has the puck, the "step-in" has been reduced to a squeeze and no more, while players who are in possession of the puck may be crowded but they can be slammed hard. On the forward line the body-checking is to be cut out altogether. Nothing more than a body contact sufficient to enable a player to get at the puck is permitted. The whole game is to be a matter of clean play, fewer injuries and a better game, and the consequences.

Where a patient is too ill to be disturbed, the stethophone can be wheeled to the bedside and the action of heart and lungs heard not only by the attending physician, but by a class of students in a distant room. When the instructor wishes to address the class, he keeps the stethophone in position against the patient's body and talks in a quiet voice. The vibrations are picked up by the patient's body and communicated to the chest-piece; then amplified and transmitted to the students' receivers.

For a whole class of medical students to listen to heart murmurs and lung sounds at the same moment as their physician-instructor, would seem to be the ideal method of studying the life of these vital organs of the human body. The significance of each variation is explained at the moment it is heard by the entire class.

The stethophone, a recent invention of Bell telephone engineers, makes this possible. The apparatus was recently demonstrated before a large body of medical men.

Dunnville's Scraper Trims Joe Shirley by K. O. in Second Round—Kickers Led in Trailing Round Top Form.

PEACH BUDS LOSE

Last night at the Arena the local juniors were officially beaten by the Hamilton Rowing Club team—the official score being 3 to 1. Grimsby supporters figure the score was two to one. The Hamilton lads thought it should be 4-1, but Jack Carmichael, who engaged to referee, dropped it as 2-1. The mix-up in the scores and some weird decisions by the referee were features of the game. Carmichael was plainly at sea—the teams were alternately too speedy for him and in addition he gave the visitors the breaks. He was lucky to escape with his clothes.

The locals all turned in wonderful cards. Hans Marsh in goal acted like a second Venus, while MacCartney and Hillier made a beautiful defence, both blocking and rushing well. Red Farrell, "Pine" Hill and "Colonel" Farrell combined nicely, back checking well and carried the puck well. Stewart and Walker were used fearfully and both were strong. Right half back Small got a penalty for illegal blocking and a minute after "Red" Farrell followed, sent for an illegal check. Harley notched the first counter in six minutes. Red came on and set-up his way through, but Robner saved. Hillier got a penalty, "Red" and "Colonel" combined and tested Robner. Marsh got an enforced rest. "Gray" tried to score with the puck in his hand and got a penalty. The locals pressed hard but Robner was invincible, making lovely saves. Time after time the locals went in on Robner, but I couldn't be done. The visitors were getting in a lot of illegal hockey and Gray insisted on playing 30 feet off all the while, but he got away with it. "Red" Farrell went through after the second face-off, but Robner saved. Litten scored on the return play a rebound doing it "c" trick. "Red" got a penalty and a half minute later Harley followed to the haggard for tripping. Hillier relieved MacCartney, Walker relieved Hillier. Litten got a rest for kicking the referee's stick. Carmichael rang his bell on an off-side, but let the play go on after the locals stopped, and Harley scored. A near riot developed and the Ref. decided he was in a struggle and disallowed the goal, but the puck at centre ice. The locals had much the better of the play, but were unable to penetrate Robner's stout defence.

The third period was exceptionally fast with the locals throwing all they had into the attack. Stewart and Walker relieved Hill and "Red" and a moment later "Red" relieved MacCartney. "Red" went through the works, drew Robner out and notched our only official tally. Gray got penalized for throwing a stick. "Colonel" and Murphy had a head-on collision and the visitors saw the solar system. Walker and Harley were both sent for a rest and then Stewart got his for tripping. The "Colonel" and "Red" carried the disc up through for the equalizing score, but for some reason, known only to himself, Carmichael disallowed the goal that broke the kids hearts. They kept right on fighting and never gave up, but the little old break was gone. Hillier was penalized for throwing his stick. Carmichael rang his bell—Litten scored and Carmichael allowed the tally, which made him wrong on the play. Hill relieved Walker. Harley penalized for tripping. Gray took a pass at "Red" with his stick. "Red" threatened to retaliate and Gray hit him again. Carmichael sent them both for two minutes. "Red" might as well have got in a couple of pucks. MacCartney got a penalty. The game ended with the locals pressing hard, but unable to score. Robner was 75 per cent. of the visiting team; Litten 10 per cent. and the balance were just on the fringe. The illegal hooking and loading, off-side are the big items in the team's repertoire. The return game will be played in Hamilton, on Tuesday evening, and Mal-lough is confident that with an even break in off-side, he will wipe out last night's defeat.

As a mark of tribute to the late Dr. L. L. Buck, a moment's silence was observed by the players and spectators just before last night's game. The locals wore black bands around their arms for the game.

Prig, the visitors' centre, is the greatest exponent of shugging and loading we've ever seen.

Carmichael handed out the worst game we've ever seen since the famous Lawson Whitehead misours.

It was a tough night for Dunnville fans to see Nick Burnside and Buddy Fisher performing in such a high-class manner. These two lads were Dunnville stalwarts for two seasons and have a lot of real friends in the Grand River town.

"Pop" McVicar was called home to Renfrew on Saturday morning, owing to sickness in his family. He will be on the job in the Welland game on Friday night.

Referee Matthews has certainly earned himself a right to sit in with the best of the bell-handlers in the O.H.A. This boy takes nothing from nobody but runs the game according to the rules. It is too bad there are not more of his caliber working in the intermediate and junior series.

SPORTSMANSHIP?

(By Old Pro.)

From the sporting columns of the Hamilton Spectator, of last night: "The Peach King kids didn't like the idea of going through with the game tonight for various reasons, and they notified the locals to that effect, asking for a postponement." These various reasons referred to consisted of the following wire sent on Friday afternoon:

MacG. L. Carson, 12 King street, Hamilton: Owing to death of Dr. Buck, president, Grimsby Hockey Club, would request postponement of tomorrow night's Rowing Club-Grimsbey Junior game until Wednesday night, the 16th. Wire reply collect at once.

R. H. KIDD.
Later on Major Kidd had a "phone" conversation with the Rowing Club officials about the matter, but was unable to secure their consent to a postponement unless it be made the business of the season, which was absolutely impossible on account of all the players' dates.

Local "Spec." has a large circulation this district and one would expect it to play the game and be fair to the local club; but, apparently, it did not expect the Hamilton Rowing Club to be sportsman enough to give honor to one of the best sports districts has ever had—the late Dr. L. L. Buck.

SPORTY SPORTLETS

(By Old Pro.)

Nearly 100 Fans and fanettes from Grimsby, Welland and Smithville made the arduous trip to Dunnville on Friday night, but the victory was worth it. The people from below the hill drove to Smithville by horse and bobbleheads and took a special train over the T. H. & N. and returned the same way.

Dunnville risked Grimsby Arena beaten when it comes to registering goals so all the public are sure that a goal has been scored. Every time a puck goes in the net, the goal umpire instead of holding up his hand turns a button and a large red light, lights up above the goal and stays lighted until referee makes the goal official or unofficial.

Sporting circles have suffered a severe loss in the death of Dr. L. L. Buck, president of the Grimsby Hockey Club, which position he has held for the past three seasons. He has always been a greater booster for clean sport and in his younger days was a noted baseball and football player on the Queen's University team. In the days of the softball boom in Grimsby he was regarded as one of the best third basemen in the district, even though his opponents for the home were all much younger men. His loss is a sad blow, especially to the Peach Kings and the Peach Buds as he has worked long and hard to build up intermediate and junior hockey teams in Grimsby and has played immensely by all the players on both teams. A large wreath of red and white roses, the club's colors, were among the many floral tributes that were placed upon his bier.

Beausville Band will be in attendance at all intermediate games at the Arena during the balance of the season. The fans of the eastern village are certainly boosting hard for the Peach Kings to come through with a win of the group and we sincerely hope that Reid and his lads are able to grant them their wish.

When it comes down to speed and stick-handling you have got to doff the caddy to Mr. Harry Reid, the Beausville speed merchant. He sure burned the ice up in Dunnville.

That Peach King defence is going to take a lot of beating before the season closes. They get better defensively and offensively every game. They are the pick of the group. In fact, Carson is the fastest defence man in the group by long odds, and also has the edge on a lot of the other teams' forwards.

It was a tough night for Dunnville fans to see Nick Burnside and Buddy Fisher performing in such a high-class manner. These two lads were Dunnville stalwarts for two seasons and have a lot of real friends in the Grand River town.
